“

I thoroughly enjoyed all courses in the Public Works Leadership Development Program and highly recommend this training to anyone in a leadership role in the public works industry. The facilitators bring a wealth of knowledge and experience from previous public sector roles, and they promote the sharing of leadership experiences from a range of public works environments. Attending this training will enable you to make new contacts with those in similar public sector positions, and you come away with knowledge and tools to help address challenges in your workplace.

4 LOCAL ASSOCIATIONS (LA)
Our 30+ LA's are the basic close-to-home organizational element of the AORS. They are the point at which most direct membership contact takes place and offer our Associates networking opportunities with colleagues and peers in a professional setting to support and advance our Association. Municipal employees can apply for 'individual' membership if there is no LA in their area.

5 PUBLICATIONS
Don't let our grassroots looks fool you. The Spotlight Municipal Directory, Advance Newsletter, Training Booklet and regular informational e-flyers are sophisticated, professionally developed publications and key sources of membership information.
